

PROTECTION FOR THE VULNERABLE

“THE LAWS AND POLICIES OF CIVIL GOVERNMENT MUST PROVIDE FOR THE SAFETY AND SECURITY OF THE CITIZENS, ESPECIALLY THE VULNERABLE”

As Canadians, we pride ourselves on our commitment to helping others and protecting those most vulnerable in our society.

It's what makes us Canadian.

During the COVID-19 pandemic, we've heard uplifting stories about Canadians buying groceries for the elderly, donating personal protective equipment to hospitals and transforming their businesses to provide much needed medical equipment.

But it didn't start with COVID-19.

FOR NEARLY TEN YEARS, OUR BRAVE MEN AND WOMEN OF THE CANADIAN ARMED FORCES DEFENDED THE AFGHAN PEOPLE FROM THE BRUTAL TALIBAN REGIME.

Our soldiers oversaw the construction of schools so young girls could get an education. We helped build infrastructure for safe drinking water and protected religious institutions from the Taliban.

During that same time, Conservatives were establishing the Office of Religious Freedom, to better protect religious minorities around the world.

We also introduced mandatory minimum penalties for those who pray on children through human trafficking rings.

And we made it easier for organizations to sponsor refugees who were fleeing violence and persecution.

But under Justin Trudeau, Canada is losing its way. Trudeau closed the Office of Religious freedom, ended mandatory minimum sentences for human trafficking and even withdrew our soldiers from the fight against the ISIS.

Only Conservatives can be trusted to protect the most vulnerable of our society and stand up for those who are being persecuted.

Together we can take back Canada and once again make our country a shining beacon of hope for the world's most vulnerable.
